WHY Plexus includes the Chamber of Commerce for the LGBT Community and Allies serving Northeast Ohio, and the Plexus Education Foundation, which seeks to support LGBT businesses and professionals through education, research and advocacy.

At the second annual meeting, Plexus will celebrate its 2010 accomplishments and share exciting plans and new program offerings for 2011. This includes an official partnership with COSE that will offer dual-membership in both organizations, an impressive growth in memberships and sponsors, and the roll out of a special networking series for LGBT-focused Employee Resource Groups at corporations from around the NEO region.

The capstone of the evening will be an address from Cleveland Mayor Frank Jackson, who will discuss his administration's dedication to inclusion and diversity initiatives as well as some of the the economic development efforts happening in the city.

This event is free to ALL including Plexus members, sponsors, guests and the media, but registration are required. For more information or to register, visit www.ThinkPlexus.org.
